DEDICATION

The past is a conquered satisfaction.

We look with admiration and gratitude

At those who have dedicated themselves

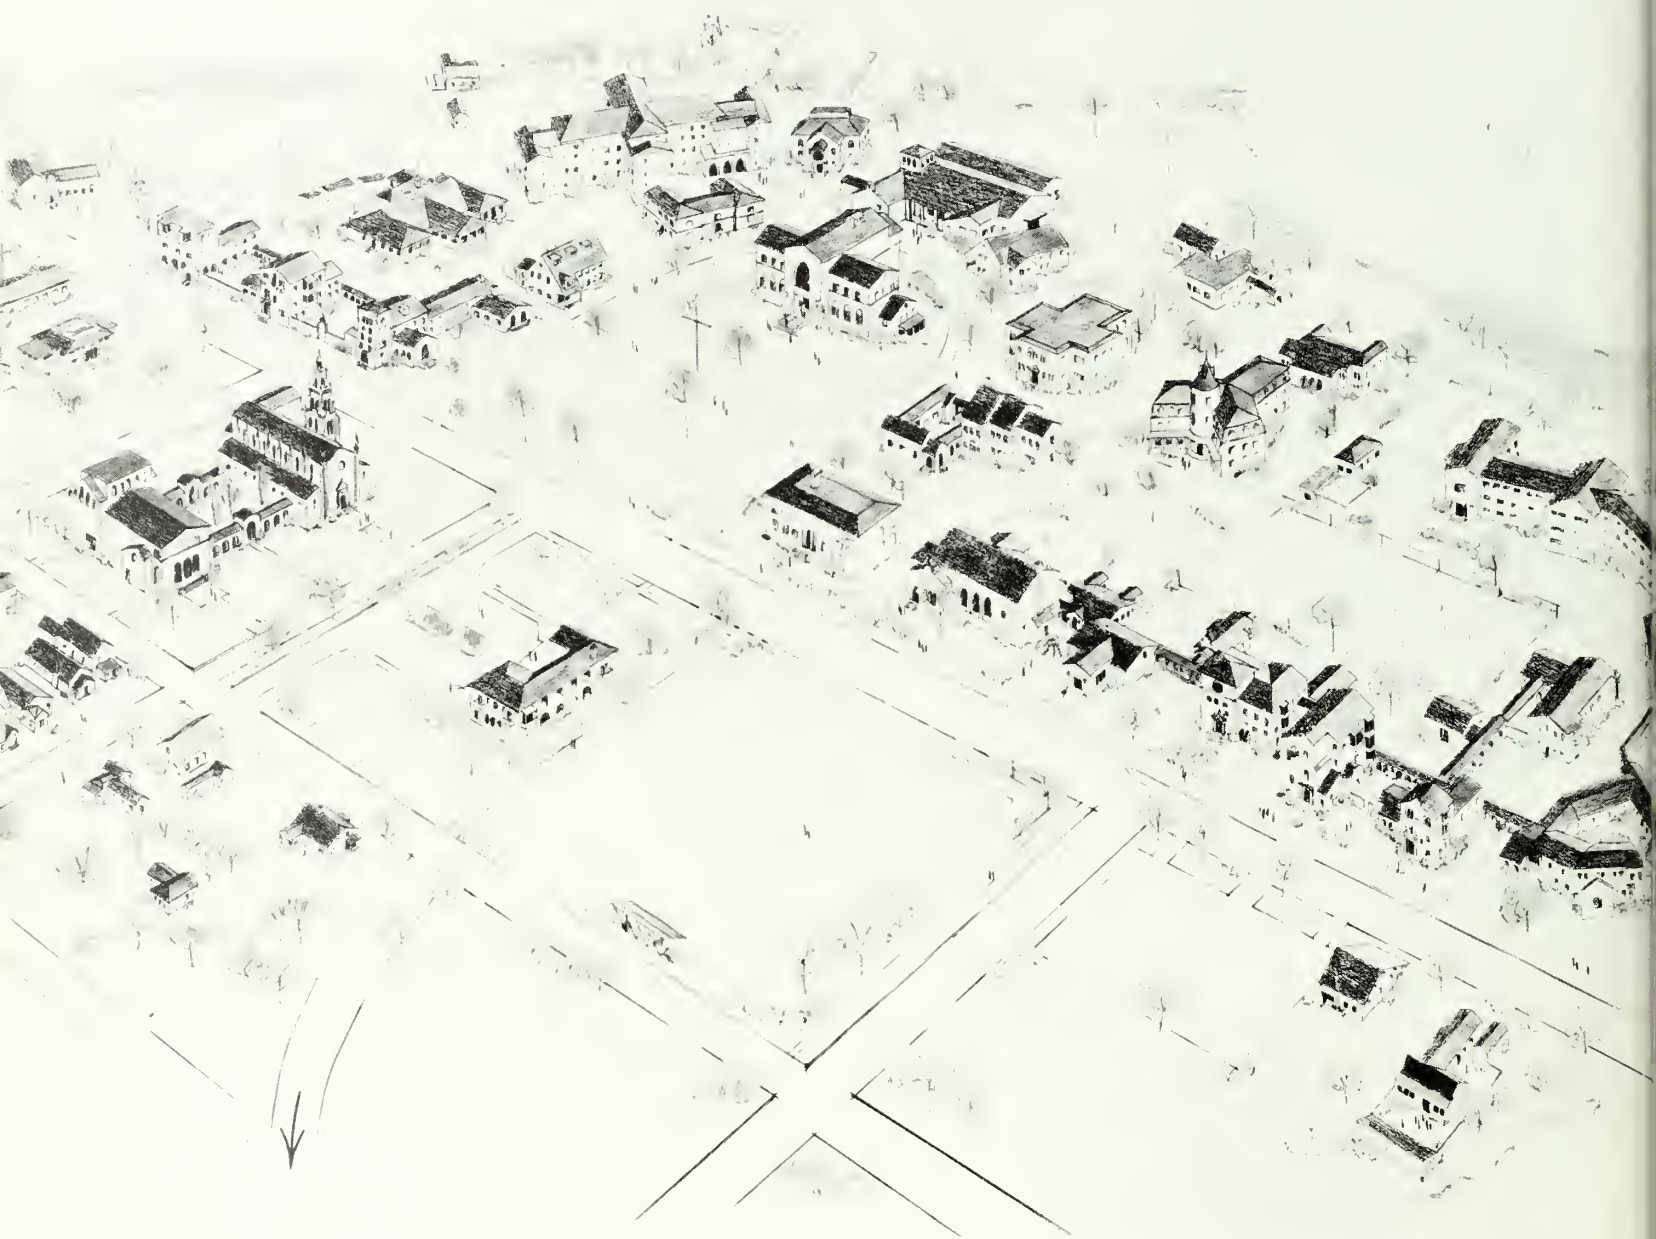

To the foundation of Rollins.

Theirs was the investment;

Ours is the debt.

From a strong past

We build toward an even more impressive future.

FOREWORD

I Came . . .

with too many clothes and not enough closet with hopes of eight hours of sleep a night with grand dreams and impossible ideas with aching feet and eager mind . . .
confused.

I Saw . . .

in banquets, teas, and dances in endless stacks of books in never quite enough time in need for quiet places . . .

I Conquered.

the abstractions, the truths, the realities
the many difficult ideas
the touch of many hands the vitality of being . . .
myself.

IN MEMORIAM

DR. DONALD WESLEY CARROLL

FALL BEGINS . . .

Following tradition, freshmen arrive in the rain, . . .

unload their belongings in a flurry of excitement, . . .

and are welcomed to Rollins by our first family.

Well, I guess he did bring everything.

AND THOSE

There are many questions to be asked,
even before classes begin.

FIRST FEW HOURS OF COLLEGE LIFE ARE SO IMPORTANT . . .

Parties, dances, meetings, and receptions cram that first week.

GETTING ACQUAINTED MAKES A COLLEGE MORE THAN STRANGE BUILDINGS AND UNFAMILIAR FACES . . .

REMEMBER THE WAITING . . .

Our hours are not our own.

RAT CAPS MEAN SWIM TESTS, PICTURES, AND S.T.E.P.'S . . .

Campaign evidence.

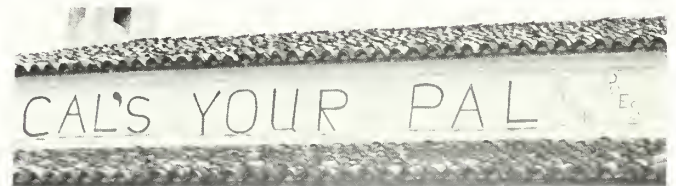

THE COMPETITIVE COLLEGE SPIRIT

BEGINS WITH THAT FIRST CLASS, ELECTIONS, AND THE BOOKSTORE LINES.

WOMEN'S RUSH . . .

Past masculine impediments lies home.

FACES SHOW

THE JOY OF FRIENDS-TO-BE.

THE WORRIES AND TENSIONS OF RUSH ARE DISPELLED BY THE FIRST HUG OF A NEW SISTER.

MEN'S RUSH . . .

Big decisions must be made between the mailbox and fraternity row.

The first concrete tie between the pledge and his new brother.

MASCULINE NON-CHALANCE CRUMBLES
AS FRESHMAN MEN MARCH TOWARD FRATERNITY ROW AND THAT MUCH-COVETED PIN.

Masculine nonchalance crumbles as freshman men march toward fraternity row and that much-coveted pin.

The beginning of fraternity life.

ROY E. CRUMMER

ROLLINS BENEFACTOR

In October Rollins received one million dollars which will make possible the establishment of a school of Finance and Business Administration which will seek to strengthen the human element in business. The gift was from Roy E. Crummer, a prominent businessman and former resident of Winter Park. Mr. Crummer's business career has been one of financial enterprise. Significantly, in the 1930's he devoted his time and efforts to the rehabilitation of the public debt of Florida. When visiting the college, Mr. and Mrs. Crummer were warmly received in appreciation for all they have done for Rollins.

Proposed Roy E. Crummer School of Business.

Campus dignitaries welcome the Crummers.

A warm, spontaneous reception.

THE BREATH OF FALL LINGERS ON . . .

It's been a hard day's night.

And they think we know what we're doing!

Philosophy is a never-ending never-ending, never-ending . . .

Yep, somebody did doodle on your master plan.

Chief Buchanan.

And we gave thanks.

ANN JOHNSTON MISS TOMOKAN

As a freshman, each woman is theoretically presented with a clean canvas. As she progresses through her four years at school, she proceeds to paint a picture. Senior year is the unveiling. It is to the senior woman who has applied her brush and shown her ability to the fullest that the title of Miss Tomokan is awarded. The title is recognition of the girl who has given much to the betterment of herself and Rollins. She is a girl who works as silently as an artist, never expecting praise or glory, forever enriching herself intellectually, and endlessly extending her enthusiasm and friendliness to all.

The Student Association is the governing body of Rollins College. All students are represented by a member of their Greek organization or Independent group. Each representative's vote has equal power when deciding on amendments to the constitution or activities concerning the use of student association fees. This year the student legislature was the main force in the re-instatement of Thanksgiving vacation and the revision of the social code.

Mary Hambley, Chuck Olsen, Dave Schecter, Rod Eason.

Second Row: Gay Moulton, Tony McCague, Bill Bartlett, Dutchie Bodenheimer, Sunny Harris, Chuck Goodell, Pete Cowin, Candy Northway, Bobbie Warthan, Sue Stiles.

1964-1965 marked the beginning of dynamic change in the Rollins Union. Led by the dedicated inventiveness of selfless toiler Barb Bissell, ace promoter Rod Eason, and quality-minded President Tom Choate, and assisted by a new Director, Assistant Dean Lindquist, the Union took a long hard look at its structure and Programs. In keeping with the Union's purpose as a center of student life devoted to helping "establish a cultural pattern which will distinguish Rollins Students", irrelevant programs such as the Lettermen and Joe and Eddie concert and the panel Where to and Why, Rollins? were added as the Union sought to expand into all areas of student experience. The Union has a long road to climb to excellence, but 1964-65 will be remembered as the year we started upward.

Patsy Blackburn, Editor

The 1965 Tomokan has gone to press. It is the product of the hard work of a number of students and of the interest and assistance of members of the faculty and administration. To these people go not only my personal thanks but the appreciation of everyone who ever reads this yearbook.

Rollins tradition and culture are incorporated into the Tomokan to make it a living memory of student college life, and it was therefore the aim of our staff to give you a cross section of our campus and thus assure you of the true meaning of Rollins College. It is you and your fellow students that make up our fine institution, and I only hope that in years to come you may look upon this book, not only as a remembrance of a fine year at Rollins, but also as an index to the good times that we have shared. The work, the hard play, and the study must never be forgotten, and may we ever be reminded that skill is the result of forgotten toil.

In closing let me again thank my staff, for it is only through their efforts and cooperation that you now hold the 1965 Tomokan.

Most sincerely,
Patsy Blackburn

NINETEENTH ANNUAL SHAKESPEAREANA

MRS. NINA OLIVER DEAN,
Beloved founder of Shakespeareana

Anne Hathaway.

The Bard comes to Rollins through the efforts of Mrs. Nina Dean and her Shakespeare class. Over 600 people attended the annual songs-and-scenes performance this year. Held in the Strong Hall patio, which closely approximates the Globe Theatre, Shakespeareana presented a varied program of songs by the Rollins Singers, the wooing from Henry V, sonnets, orange girls, and a live trumpeter to summon the "groundlings." The performance, dedicated to Sir Winston Churchill, was pronounced a delight by the audience.

FOUNDERS WEEK

Founders Week Convocation.

Honorable Hayden Burns, Governor.

The 80'th anniversary of Rollins was celebrated during Founder's Week. The February celebration was highlighted by the opening of the Rollins Art Museum, Animated Magazine, and Founder's Day Convocation. Governor Hayden Burns addressed the College on higher education in Florida. Following Convocation, the entire college was treated to a picnic on the Horseshoe.

Greeley Wells
King of Hearts

Each year, during February, King and Queen of Hearts contest is held. One candidate is put up by each Greek group—the fraternities nominating the queens, the sororities the kings. Pictures of the candidates are posted in the Union by a ballot box. Donations from the pennie votes cast are given to the Heart

Fund. This money goes to various hospitals, homes, and research clinics for children with heart disease. The winners of the contest are announced and crowned at an all college formal dance.

In the winter of '65, Pi Rho Sigma became the seventh fraternity on the Rollins campus. Beginning with a successful year, we will continue to be a credit to Rollins College and fraternities across the country. Of our members . . . Zaccardi loves it. Woodward hates it. It's beautiful, but who's it for, Nick? We had Lee in stitches. Gifford volunteered to play center on the basketball team. Dick won the grammar award. Herb slept in Saturday night. Casual became anti-casual. You want the what on the coat of arms, Smidt? Did anyone read between the letters, Gifford? John ran for president, vice-president, . . . Hush-hush affair of the year: Dick and Phyllis. Herb wanted an anti- . . . clause in the constitution. The IFC was bribed. Fotis and Christos started smoking Turkish tobacco. "Oh, come on, Christos." Remember the candidate for housemother? Has anyone seen Scotty's neck? Doesn't he ever laugh? Lee wanted to put the fraternity on foreign aid or declare Chase a poverty area. Smidt wanted to break beer glasses in the beach blanket. Woodward, after gaining practical experience in experimental surgery for three summers, moonlighted or performed at a discount. Applebee was fined for talking. Ken always brought a large supply of quarters to active meetings. Bob, gin, hearts, hi-lo . . . ? I parked my car in Harvard Yard. Please add a "Starfire" sticker on your books. Hii there. Two four, eight, eighteen.

A veritable land of fantasy, with cartoon characters and colorful atmosphere, emerged during Rollins' transformation into a southern Disneyland. Elaborate floats, antique cars, bands, and pretty girls highlighted the parade as it headed down Park Ave. toward the circus and Midway.

Winning floats: Gamma Phi Beta's "Dumbo" and Tau Kappa Epsilon's "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea."
